P R E F A C E .

THIS MEMORIAL, commenced in 1873, has grown out of an effort to arrange the fragments of fact and tradition found floating in memory, and to add to them such information as might be obtained from other sources, for the purpose of answering the question: "What is known of the early ancestors of the Carhart family?"

The desire to know something more concerning these early ancestors had often arisen in my own mind, but not with sufficient force to lead me to make the necessary research, until this request was presented, when I took the matter in hand, without any intention beyond that of giving a simple sketch.

In the beginning of my investigations I found that the desire to collect and compile the records and traditions of the past, in relation to their ancestors, was active also in three other branches of the family.

Charles Carhart, of Perryville, Hunterdon Co., N. J., had already collected valuable information, and Elwood Carhart, of Oxford, Chester Co., Pa., proposed to visit the families of his native State, New Jersey, and subsequently did so, and collected such records and traditions as could be obtained. He also spent some time at Trenton in searching for and copying documents from "East Jersey Records," which have been arranged in the order of their dates.

For nine years previous to 1879, George Beavers Carhart, of Macon, Ga., and at present of Brooklyn, N. Y., had been residing with his family in Europe, mainly in France, and during this period, his son, Amory Sibley Carhart, had visited at times the native land of his early ancestor, and obtained the Coat of Arms at the Herald's Office, in London, and extracts from records of the family in Co. Cornwall, which will be found in their appropriate place.

Previous to the commencement of these researches, neither the New Jersey branches, nor those of Rye, Westchester Co., N. Y., were aware that they were descendants of a common ancestor. When this was made known, it became a source of great encouragement to all interested, to find the desire aroused in each branch to trace the pedigree of the family. It was then proposed to place the matter as collected, in my hands, for the purpose of being arranged in the orderly form of a Genealogical Record.

The task of collecting my own branch, John,¹ of Rye, together with the principal part of the Appendix, has devolved upon me, with one exception, that of Daniel, of Coeymans, Albany Co., N.Y., which was furnished through the patient efforts of Mrs. Margaret A. Hauxhurst, of that town.

The labor of collecting these materials has exceeded the expectations of all. In my own case, about three hundred letters have been received, and treble that number written, to gather up the names of descendants, and such items of interest as could be reached.

It is not claimed that all of the name of Carhart have been found and recorded. The family of Thomas,² of Bethlehem, Albany Co., New York—grandson of John,¹ of Rye—is fragmentary. His living descendants are unable to give any account of those of his sons, Thomas,⁴ and Peter Carhart, or his daughters, Clorinia=Durie and Annie=Cregier.

There are also, in the New Jersey branches, some names whose families cannot be traced. The search for these missing ones has been thorough, but thus far unsuccessful.

It is worthy of notice that the various families have been located in their appropriate places in the regular line of descent, and the simplest form of designation by numbers has been adopted. To avoid confusion by breaking the line of descent, by generations, these have been marked simply at the left of the page.

More extended lists of the female branches have been given than is usual in works of this kind. In every instance, where the records could be obtained, the descent has been carried to the second generation,

An Appendix of Notes has been added, giving sketches of the pedigrees of many of those who have intermarried with the Carhart family, and notices of some of the descendants. Those who find themselves unmentioned here, must refer the omission to their own neglect.

The sketch of the family of Major William Phillips has been collected from various historical authorities, at an expense of much time and labor, and will be found to contain many interesting facts.

The most grateful acknowledgments are tendered to those who gave a ready response to calls for private family records and documents, and for kind words of encouragement from various branches who seemed to appreciate my feeling and motives.

Perfection, however, in such a work, cannot be expected. In some instances no dates can be found, in which case only an approximation to accuracy is attempted, and in every such instance it is so stated.

The entire manuscript has been rewritten twice, and parts of it three and four times, to admit of additional families, and different arrangement.

The author has endeavored to make the record as full and accurate as faithful effort can render it. She assures the living descendants of Thomas Carhart, that she has spared no pains to make it a repository of facts that will interest the members of the family; and to her, at least, the object has appeared to justify this bestowal of time and attention.

To preserve the memory of a heroic life, or noble name, among one's ancestors, should be an honorable pride. Such a name, or life, is a stimulus to higher and nobler living—not food for vanity.

To do this, as a duty, lovingly and conscientiously performed, one should feel that the work is private, and, in a sense, done in the sanctity of family life.

“The love of kindred underlies true patriotism.”

With these explanations and remarks, the work is submitted to the members of the family, in the hope that it will be acceptable.

INTRODUCTION.

THOMAS CARHART, the progenitor of the Carhart family in America, arrived at New York, August 25, 1683, holding the appointment of private Secretary to Col. Thomas Dongan, English Governor to the Colonies in America, at that date.

He was the son of Anthony Carhart, of Co. Cornwall, Gentleman. The exact place and date of his birth, have not been ascertained. He was probably born about 1650, and was unmarried when he came to America.

I am informed by Mr. Stephen Carhart, of Nevada, Story Co., Iowa (who was born in Cornwall, and has resided in America for several years) that, "A valuable Pedigree, from 1550, to the present time, is in the possession of a clergyman, connected with the family, now living in Cornwall." Repeated efforts have been made to obtain extracts from this Pedigree, but they have been unsuccessful. "The Bible of Anthony Carhart—more than two hundred years old—containing the name of Thomas Carhart, his son, who came to America in 1683—is said to be in the possession of a Mr. Hunt, of Treslothian, Co. Cornwall."

The following historical facts, obtained in England, were furnished by Amory Sibley Carhart, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

While in London, in January, 1876, he engaged the services of a Herald, who was most highly recommended to him, as the best in the city, and a person of undoubted honesty. He, after having had the books of the various Visitations in the British Museum, thoroughly searched, and after consultation with other persons, whose authority in such matters could be vouched for, informed Mr. A. S. Carhart that, "At the earliest mention of the family, 1420, in the Herald's office, and British Museum, London; the name is found to have been Carhurta, and Carharta, and the arms:

Shield. Ar. two bars, sa. in chief, a demi-griffin, issuant of the last.

Crest. A demi-man, naked, ar. a wreath about his head, sa. in right hand, an oaken branch, vt. acorns, or.

"The Griffin was most probably instituted by Richard II.," who reigned from 1376 to 1399. "as his signet ring bore that emblem, denoting strength and swiftness, and was afterwards introduced into Heraldry."—Edmondston's Heraldry.

From this statement, taken in connection with the date of record at the Herald's office, it may be inferred that these arms were achieved and granted, either during the reign of Richard II., or soon after.

Edmondston also says, that by systematizing the recording of arms, Richard II. established the order out of which has grown the Herald's College: thus banishing the confusion and irregularity which had previously rendered the tracing of arms almost impossible.

The Carhurta arms are also found quartered with those of Cottell, Malherb, and Godfrey : surmounted by the Cottell crest. Quartering became usual in the time of Richard II.

Cottell, of Yoembridge, Devonshire :

Arms. Or. on a bend gu. a crescent for difference.

Crest. Out of a ducal coronet. or, a leopard sequant proper. charged with a crest. or. for a difference.

Malherb, of Devonshire :

Arms. Or. a chev. between three nettle leaves proper.

Godfrey, of Bodgood, Cornwall :

Arms. Az. a Griffin sequant. sa.

For the purpose of preventing the unlawful assumption of arms, it was ordered in the 16th century, that a Herald should be sent every thirty years, throughout England, to ascertain whether all families bearing arms had the right to do so. The records of one of these Heralds, named Harl, are received as standard authority on all questions pertaining to Heraldry, from that time.

In Harl's MSS. of Visitations of Devonshire, in 1565, (to be found in the British Museum), p. 5871, he says : "The Carhurta family have the right to bear arms," and describes those before mentioned.

Also, in Harl's Visitations, is found the marriage of Thomas Carhurta, with Margery, daughter and heir of Richard Malherb, of Thorne. Issue of this marriage, Roger Carhurta.

In the parochial and family history of the Deanery of Trigg-minor, in the Co. of Cornwall, by John McCleon, Esq., F. S. R. in the Parish of Minster, is found the family name of Cottell, Cotel, Cotele, and Cottle. John Cottell, of Yoembridge, Co. Devonshire (who lived about 1420, and was probably the representative of the house of Cotele), heads the pedigree recorded at the Herald's Office. He married Sarah, daughter and heir of Roger Carhurta, of Devonshire ; whose mother was Margery, daughter and heir of Richard Malherb.

The name of Malherb is found in the Roll of Battle Abbey, among those who came to England with William the Conqueror.

The names of Carharta and Carhurta, are apparently of Saxon and Danish origin, from Carr. Anglo Saxon, a rock, or Caer, a town or city.

Heorte. A. S. and herta, Old Saxon, from which is derived the word, heart.

Heort. A. S. hert, Danish, from which is derived, hart, a stag.

Mark Antony Lowers, in his dictionary of family names, says : "Car, Carr, Caer, was the initial syllable of many local names, which have become surnames, especially in Scotland and Cornwall. It is a Celtic word, signifying an artificial military strength, whether fort or castle."

Win. Smith, L.L.D., author and classical examiner, in the University of London, says : "As to memorials of the Saxons, preserved in the names of men, families, or places, they are so numerous that there is hardly a locality in the whole extent of England where a majority of the names is not pure and unadulterated Saxon. They have in many cases been converted into English, by contracting, or otherwise modifying the pronunciation and orthography."

For example,—In a record of the Cornish Gentry, the name is found spelt, Carrheart—Mr. Hicks Carrheart spelling it thus, leaving the Saxon, herta or hurta, and taking the derivative, heart.

In Burke's Landed Gentry, is recorded the marriage of Peter Symonds, an eminent merchant and Alderman of Plymouth, who died in 1787, son of Rev. Wm. Symonds, of Chadderwood, to Elizabeth, daughter of Hicks Carhart, Esq., of Carhart, Co. Cornwall, in 1764. It will be observed that this is the same gentleman, whose name is spelt Carrheart, showing a second change in the orthography.

"The family of Symonds is of great antiquity in Cornwall; is stated to have come over with William the Conqueror, and the descent is deduced from the Counts of Avranches, in Normandy, and is entitled in point of antiquity, and its alliances, to rank with the highest in the Co. of Cornwall."—Burke's Heraldry.

Arms. Per fesse. dancette gu. and ar. a pale counter charged. three tripods. one and two clipped of the first.

Crest. On a mount vt. in front of a saltire, gu. an ermine holding in mouth a fern branch. ppr.

Lyson records, in his history of Cornwall, that the elder branch of the family, that of Thomas Carhurta, became extinct, but does not give the date. We may infer, from the last record of the family—given by Harl, in 1565, that it was subsequent to this date, or during the latter part of the 16th century.

In the event of the elder branch becoming extinct, the younger were granted the privilege, on petition, to adopt the arms of the elder, and as appears, a younger branch, on the adoption of the Carhurta arms, chose, as was their right, a new crest, which is recorded in both Edmondston's and Berry's Heraldries thus :

Carhurta, Arms. ar. two bars. sa. in chief a demi Griffin issuant of the last.

Crest. a stag, ermined. attired, or.

As the last syllable of the name, is apparently derived from the Saxon and Danish words; herta, heort, and hert, the roots of the two English words, heart and hart, there is, evidently, a connection between the latter syllable of the modern name, and the second crest.

Sir George McKenzie says, "Some have taken their surnames from their arms, or their arms to suit their names."

A parochial history of Cornwall states, that the beginning of the use of the English language in Cornwall, dates from the latter part of the reign of Henry VIII,—who died in 1547—and that in 1640, the Cornish language was banished from the churches, and the English substituted.

Probably, names began to be changed at the same time, from the Saxon, to the English orthography.

It is not improbable that these arms were brought to America; as the tradition exists in the family of John of Rye, that the Carhart arms contained a hart, or stag.

Mr. A. S. Carhart, while residing in France, held correspondence with Col. Armand Constantine Cahart, a retired officer of the French army, residing at present in Paris, 20 Rue Mozart, who was able to trace his family to England; they having left that country between 1648 and 1688, in consequence of their religious tenets, just before the revocation of the Edict of Nantes.

This gentleman's family resided for a while in Normandy, passed thence into Ardennes and Lorraine at the revocation of the Edict of Nantes. His father was master of the Poste at Steney, department of the Meuse. A brother of Col. Cahart, is landed proprietor and mayor of the town of Fresnes en Woerve, near the city of Verdun, department of the Meuse.

There have been found attached to public documents, wills, etc, in Cornwall, the following names; which seem to prove that the name became permanently changed, during the 17th century.

William Carhart, of Luxulian, in 1707. Eliza Carhart, of Lanivet, 1717. Philip Carhart, of Blissland, 1723. Robert Carhart, of Roach, 1773. William Carhart, of Bodmin, 1778. Richard Carhart of St. Minever, Wadebridge, 1875. John Carhart, Miller of Crockapit Mills, Broad Oak, Lostwithiel, 1875, who married a cousin of F. E. Gurney, of Buckingham Villa, Aylesbury, Bucks Co. William Carhart, of Lostwithiel, 1876.

Stephen Carhart, of Nevada, Story Co., Iowa, is brother of William, of Lostwithiel.

Descendants of Thomas Carhart have been found settled in the states of Maine, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Dis. Col., Virginia, N. Carolina, Georgia, Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, Utah, Texas, Louisiana, California.

William S. Carhart, of New Orleans, in 1852, cannot be assigned to his family.

In Rye, W. C., Co. N. Y., which became the place of residence of John, oldest son of Thomas of Cornwall, the name is found spelled in three different ways, Carhartt, Carehartt, and lastly, Carhart. In some parts of the country, the name is still spelt, Carhartt.

WILL OF THOMAS CARHART.

IN THE NAME OF GOD. AMEN.

I, Thomas Carhartt, of Woodbridge, in the Co. of Middlesex, in the Province of East New Jersey, being sick of body, but of sound and perfect memory, praised be Almighty God; do make, and ordain, this, my last will and testament in manner and form following, hereby revoking all former wills made by me.

Imprimis. I will that my funeral charges and debts be well and truly paid, in some convenient time after my decease, by my executrix, hereafter named, and as to my real estate, my will is, and I do hereby, will, devise, and bequeath, in manner and form following, viz.: That my wife, Mary Carhartt, shall have, hold possession and enjoy, all my lands, tenements, and hereditaments, whatsoever, for, and during her natural life, for the maintenance, and bringing up of our children.

But if she shall happen to marry, then my will and meaning is: that the one-half of my lands and tenements shall be to her, for and during, her natural life, and after her decease, all my lands and tenements, shall descend and come unto my three sons, John, Robert and William, to be equally divided between them.

But if it shall happen, that my said wife shall be inclined to go for Auld England, with her children, that then I do, hereby give full power and authority, by and with the assent of my overseers, hereafter named, to sell, alien and dispose of all my lands and tenements whatsoever, one-third part of the real value thereof to be to her, the said Mary, my wife, her heirs, and assigns forever, the remainder to be equally divided between my three sons, above mentioned, to be paid to them, when they come to the age of one and twenty years. And I do hereby nominate, constitute and appoint, my trusty and well beloved friends, Mr. English Smith, Mr. Thomas Hamerdan, both of N. Y., to be my trustees, to council and advise my said executrix. And I do hereby nominate and appoint my loving, and dear wife, Mary Carhartt, to be my sole executrix of this my last will and testament.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal, this sixteenth day of March, Anno Domini, one thousand, six hundred and ninety-five.

THOMAS CARHARTT. [SEAL.]

“Thomas Warne, Sen., of Dublin, merchant, was one of the twenty-four Proprietary Governors of East Jersey, which was purchased by them from the Duke of York, March 14th, 1682. He sold two-thirds of his interest, and the remaining third descended to his sons, Stephen and Thomas Warne, Jr., who came with eleven persons to the Province of East Jersey, March, 1683, and are recorded as becoming owners of several lots at Amboy.”—Whitehead's History of N. J.

In Burke's Landed Gentry, the Warne family is recorded as seated at St. Colomb and Padstow, Co. Cornwall.

DEED OF THOMAS WARNE TO THE BROTHERS CARHART.

"To all whom these presents witness shall come, I, Thomas Warne, do send greeting :

"Know ye, that I, Thomas Warne, of the Co. of Middlesex, in the Province of N. J., for and in consideration of the love, good will, and affection which I bear towards my loving sons-in-law (step-sons), John, Robert and William Carhart, their heirs, executors, and administrators, of the said Co. and Province, have given and granted, and by these presents do freely, clearly and absolutely give and grant unto the said John, Robert and William Carhart, their heirs, executors and administrators :

"Six hundred acres of land, being a share of my property not yet taken up, equally to be divided and shared between the said, John, Robert and William, etc, etc, etc, as their own proper land forever, giving and paying my proportion of the chief, or Quit-rent, etc, etc unto our new Sovereign.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal, the twenty-seventh day of Sept. A. D. 1714, in the 13th year of our Lord,—Anne, of Great Britain, Queen."

THOMAS WARNE. [L.S.]

"Signed, sealed and delivered, in the presence of JACOB ARENTS, THOMAS ELAN, SETH ELAN."

[From the fact that he signs alone, it may be inferred that his wife Mary was dead.]

April 8th 1717. "Memorandum—That on the 8th day of April 1717, the above named Thomas Warne, came before me, Thomas Gordon, of his Magisty's council of the Province of East Jersey, and did acknowledge the above written instrument to be his Will and Deed to the within mentioned."

OF THE

Carhart Family.

NEW YORK BRANCH.

GENEALOGY

OF THE

CARHART FAMILY.

THOMAS,¹

THOMAS,¹ b. about 1650, in Cornwall, Eng., m. in Nov., 1691, MARY LORD, b. at Cambridge, Mass., July 13, 1668. (dau. of Robert Lord, (Note 1) of Cambridge, and Rebecca Phillips, of Boston, and grand dau. of Major Wm. Phillips, (Note 2) of Saco, Me., and Boston, Mass.)

THOMAS, and MARY LORD CARHART, resided on Staten Island, until the spring of 1695, when they removed to Woodbridge, N. J., where the former died, sometime between March 16, 1695,—the date of his will—and, April 6, 1696, the date at which it was admitted to probate. He had three sons, JOHN,¹ ROBERT,¹ WILLIAM.¹

[These sons of THOMAS CARHART, were reared under the care of their stepfather, THOMAS WARNE, of Woodbridge, N. J., to which place he had removed from Monmouth Co., at the time of his marriage with their mother, about 1698. When the Carhart brothers became of age, he gave them a deed for 600 acres of land in Middlesex Co., as will be found recorded.]

NEW YORK BRANCH.

2 Generation.—JOHN¹ was born on Staten Island, in 1692. He married between Oct. 22, 1716,—when he signs alone to a deed—and June 1, 1717, when he signs with Anne, his wife. [The surname of his wife has not been found, and the place of her birth is not known.]

JOHN removed from Woodbridge, to Rye, Westchester Co., N. Y., before 1717, as his name is found in a list of religious teachers at Rye, at that date. Later, he became Clerk of the Vestry of Grace Church, Rye, and held the office for many years. He was a lawyer, and practiced in his profession at Rye, from 1717 to 1750. He was living in 1764. The date of his death is not known.

•• Until 1737, he lived opposite the present Episcopal Church. This property he held, in the right of George Lane. The house, with two acres of land, was afterwards sold to the Rev. James Wetmore."—Baird's History of Rye.

[The old house was removed a few years since, and the site is now occupied by the Episcopal Parsonage.]

June 4, 1722, "The Wardens of Grace Episcopal Church at Rye, addressed a petition to London, for a Pastor."

Signed by order, JOHN CARHART, Clerk.

In 1745, he signs a deed, with Jane, his second wife. 1762, "John Carhart, and Abraham Lane, applied in 1762, for twenty acres of land, additional in Richmond Co., S. I., by certificate."—Baird's History of Rye.

[It thus appears, that Thomas Carhart, did not claim his twenty acres of meadow land, in addition to the 165 acres of upland, which was allowed to those receiving grants from the Crown; but that his son John did afterwards.]

Dec. 19, 1764, "Application was made by the members of Grace Episcopal Church, of Rye Parish, for charter of the same." Among the signers, JOHN CARHART.

JOHN, and ANNE his first wife, had, THOMAS,² MARY, JOHN,² or Jonathan, and perhaps others, but they have not been found [Joseph, Andrew and Matthew, are mentioned in Rye records, but cannot be proved to have been his children; nor have any descendants of theirs been found. They may have been nephews from New Jersey, or have come from England, and returned.]

But little is known of his dau. Mary, except that she married Caleb Kniffin, (son of Nathan, who was son of George Kniffin, of Stratford, Conn., in 1666.) A daughter named Mary Kniffin, m. James Wetmore, and removed to Kortright, Sullivan Co., N. Y., where descendants of hers are living at this date. For further history of the Kniffin family, see Baird's History of Rye.

Of JOHN,² or Johnathan, no descendants have been found.

4 G.—ANNIE CARHART, b. May 5, 1742, m. Joshua Gedney (Note 7) of Rye, b. Feb. 11, 1742, d. Aug. 28, 1786. Res. N. Y. City. Chil. :

5 G.—I. ROBERT GEDNEY. b. Jan. 19, 1773, m. Sarah Burrows, (dau. of William Burrows, and Sarah Wilcox). "He was a man of great personal beauty—six feet in height, and of noble and graceful figure;—exceedingly polite and attractive in manner. His kind heart made him a favorite with young and old. He possessed great originality of thought and expression—was a brilliant talker—a man of unbounded energy and perseverance; being at seventy more active than most men at fifty."

He resided in N. Y. city, for many years, and I am informed by his daughter, that, "He had seen, at the City Hall, N. Y., public documents in the hand-writing of Thomas Carhart, Sec. to Gov. Thomas Dongan." [If I am rightly informed, these documents have been removed to Albany, N. Y.] His children were :

G. G.—1. SARAH ANN GEDNEY, who married Andrew Williams, of N. Y., a lawyer.

2. EMELINE AMANDA GEDNEY, who married Robert Rutherford, (son of Allen Rutherford, Barrister of Sligo, Ireland, and of the Scottish family of Rutherford—Episcopalian). Robert Rutherford died in a few years after his marriage. Mrs. R. resides at Sing Sing, N. Y. Chil. :

"ALLEN RUTHERFORD was one of the first to volunteer for the entire term of the War of the Rebellion. He raised his own company, (F) in the Ninth N. Y. Regt., and left the city for Washington, May 1861. He rose to the rank of Major, Colonel, General, and was brevetted Brigadier General, for gallant conduct. He also held several positions of great responsibility and trust. After the war he was appointed, by Gen. Grant, Third Auditor of the Treasury ; which position he filled with ability and honor, for over three years, when he resigned. He is at present practising law in Washington, D. C."

7 G.—2. ROBERT GEDNEY RUTHERFORD, m. Lizzie Mc.K. King, (dau. of William W. King Esq., of Washington, D. C.). "He also volunteered for the term of the war, and held the rank of Lieutenant in his brother's Regiment, and was promoted to that of Colonel, on his brother's promotion. He received a severe wound in his knee, which nearly cost him his life, and during the time he was unable to do duty in the field, he was in command of the Old Capitol Prison in Washington. After the war he was appointed Quartermaster, at Governor's Island, and held the position about seven years. In 1878, he was retired on half pay for life. The brothers were admitted into the Regular Army before the conclusion of the war."

G. G.—3. MARY ELIZA GEDNEY, (dau. of Robert) has charge of the "Department of Art," in the Young Ladies' Seminary at Sing Sing. Unmarried.

4. PAULINE GEDNEY, who married James Thompson, of N. Y., piano manufacturer.

ROBERT GEDNEY had two sons, GEORGE W. BROWNE GEDNEY, now dead ; and ROBERT LAWRENCE GEDNEY, living at Nyack, on the Hudson. I am unable to place these in the order of their birth.

GENEALOGY

OF THE

Carhart Family.

NEW JERSEY BRANCHES.

THE NEW JERSEY BRANCHES.

THE descendants of ROBERT¹ and WILLIAM¹ CARHART—known as the New Jersey branches—seem not to have possessed, in a great degree, the migratory spirit of their cousins of Rye, Westchester Co., N. Y., but rather to have followed the custom of their ancestors of Cornwall, where, as related by Clarendon: “Landed property did not, as elsewhere, constantly change hands. The same families have lived there for centuries, surrounded by the same families of farmers and laborers.”

Of the Rye family, not one is to be found at present in the locality selected by their ancestor, while on the contrary, many of those of New Jersey are still owning and occupying lands which were at first selected by their progenitors. As an example, see Note 41.

Not all the New Jersey families, however, have manifested that strong local attachment as seen in the Perryville family; or they have been moved by ambition, or the love of change, to find new fields to conquer, and new avenues to competence. Such have left the roof-tree of the fathers and founded homes and established themselves in prosperous business occupations elsewhere. Should the facts of history contained in this record, tend to strengthen the family bond between the three great branches, by bringing them into nearer acquaintance, the author will be partially compensated for her labors.

FAMILY OF ROBERT,¹ of Matawan, Monmouth Co., N. J., Son of THOMAS.¹

Records furnished by Messrs. CHARLES and ELWOOD CARHART.

ROBERT¹ CARHART, the second son of THOMAS,¹ seems not to have been a landholder, after selling what he inherited from his father's estate to his brothers, John and William, as no records of purchase can be found in his name. From all information that can be gathered, he lived a man of leisure, until his death, in 1752. He is supposed to have lived at, or near, Matawan, Monmouth Co., N. J. Descendants have only been found from his son Cornelius.¹

2 G.—ROBERT¹ was born on Staten Island, in 1693. He married in 1725—tradition says, “a German lady.” He died Feb. 12, 1745. Chil.:

3 G.—I. MARY CARHART, b. July 24, 1726. II. ANNIE CARHART, who d. Aug. 10, 1837. III. CORNELIUS¹ CARHART, b. Sept. 6, 1729. IV. LYDIA CARHART, b. Aug. 30, 1732. V. SAMUEL¹ CARHART, b. June 22, 1737. There are no records of Mary and Annie.

3 G.—CORNELIUS¹ CARHART (Note 33), b. Sept. 6, 1729, m. in 1754, Willimpia Coleman.

After his father's death—wishing to start in the battle of life, and tiring of the lowlands of Monmouth Co.—he went, about 1753, with his cousins, the Warnes, and cousins Jacob and Richard, sons of his uncle William Carhart, to the more fertile lands of the northern part of Hunterdon Co., later known as Sussex Co. At the present day, the part on which he settled is known as Warren Co. Here he first rented, and subsequently bought a tract of land. Eighty acres of this land is still in the possession of his descendants. A part of the town of Washington, Warren Co., is built upon the original tract. He is said to have been "honest and upright in all his doings." He was a Captain in the 3rd Regiment of Hunterdon Co., in 1778, and third Major, in 1781, in the Continental Army. He died June 3, 1810, and is buried in the Mansfield Cemetery, near Washington, N. J. Chil.:

APPENDIX.

NOTE I.

“THOMAS LORD came to America in the ship Elizabeth and Ann, April 29, 1635, with Dorethy his wife, and six children.”—Chalmer's New England Families.

“Thomas, aged 16 years, Ann, aged 14 years, William, aged 12 years, John, aged 10 years, ROBERT, aged 9 years, Annie, aged 6 years.”

Savage says, “THOMAS LORD, may have been the one, by Porter, called the ‘Sea Captain.’”

“ROBERT LORD married REBECCA PHILLIPS, dau. of Major William Phillips, of Saco, Maine. Chil. :

“1. Robert Lord, b. April 6, 1661, 2. Thomas Lord, b. May 18, 1663, died young. 3. A dau. b. at Cambridge, Mass., July 13, 1668.”—Savage's Genealogical Dictionary.

[As subsequently appears, this daughter was MARY LORD, who married THOMAS CARHART. It is also found that a second daughter was born to them, named Sarah, who married English Smith. This appellation of “English” was probably not the proper name of Mr. Smith, though in two instances he is thus recorded. “In the early days,” history informs us, it was the practice to thus designate persons by their nationality.]

[It may be inferred from a proviso in the will of Thomas Carhart commencing: “If it shall happen that my said wife shall be inclined to go for Auld England, with her children,” etc., etc., that Robert and Rebecca Lord had removed there, probably soon after the birth of their daughter Mary, and before that of Sarah, of whose birth no record is found in Savage or elsewhere.]

NOTE II.

“WILLIAM PHILLIPS resided in Cambridge, Mass. until 1646, when he removed to Boston, and became a vintner. In 1660, he removed to Saco, Maine, where he became a large land proprietor, and extensively engaged—in connection with his son-in-law, Capt. John Alden—in lumbering operations. He was legally chosen to exercise the office of Commander of the Yorkshire forces; and his oath was given him at the Court holden at Wells, Sept 29, 1663. He was also appointed one of the King's Commissioners, and Justice, for settling the affairs of New England, and was afterwards appointed—in 1665—Major Commandant of the military forces of the Province of Maine.

"It was his good sense and his merits more than his wealth that gave him rank and influence. Amid all the political changes of his time he was highly esteemed by all parties, and much in office.

"He espoused the rights of Sir Ferdinand Gorges, from an honest conviction. This gave umbrage to Massachusetts, and when she resumed the Government of Maine, in 1668, she treated him with entire neglect; and appointed in his stead, Bryan Pendleton, to the command of the Regiment. Nicholas Shapleigh, an early settler in Kittery, was Major Commandant of the York Regiment, and was displaced for Wm. Phillips.

"MAJOR WM. PHILLIPS, A. D. 1661-4, took from Fluellen, Hobinowell, and Capt. Sundy—Indian Chiefs of the Saco River, and Newichwannock—several quit-claim deeds, of a territory extending from the river Saco, to Berwick and Lebanon, and from the rear line of Wells (exclusive of Lyman) so far back as to embrace about four townships of the usual size—about 10 miles sq.

"These were, Phillipstown—now Sanford—and Alfred, Massabesec—now Waterborough—a section of Little Falls plantation, or northern part of Phillipsburgh—now Hollis—and a part of Lyvington.

"The above purchase, with revised bounds, was, in 1670, confirmed by Sir Ferdinand Gorges to the Grantee, or his son Nathaniel Phillips of Saco.

"Mr. Phillips removed to Boston on the breaking out of the Indian troubles, in 1675, in which year his house and mills were burnt, and died there, in 1683. His house stood on the north end of Salem St., where he owned 18 acres of land.

"Children of MAJOR WM. PHILLIPS, and his first wife, Mary.

1. Mary Phillips, who married Robert Field.
2. Martha Phillips, who married Richard Thurston.
3. REBECCA Phillips, who married ROBERT LORD.
4. Nathaniel Phillips, a merchant of Boston.
5. Phebe Phillips, who married Zackary Gillum.
6. Sarah Phillips, who married Ephraim Turner.
7. Elizabeth Phillips m. 1st husband, Abiel Averell.

"Her second husband, was Capt. John Alden, b. in Plymouth, in 1622, son of John Alden, 'the fair haired, taciturn stripling of the Mayflower,' and Priscilla Mullens, 'the loveliest maiden of Plymouth,' celebrated in Longfellow's poem of "Courtship of Miles Standish."

"Elizabeth Phillips and John Alden were married by Gov. John Endicott.

"From these persons are descended many of the families by the name of Alden, in America. Capt. John Alden resided in Alden Lane, near Alden St., Boston. He was imprisoned 15 weeks, on a charge of witchcraft: but made his escape."—See Alden Genealogy.

"MRS. MARY PHILLIPS died May 1, 1646, at Cambridge. The second wife of MAJOR PHILLIPS, was Susanna Stanley; who came to America with her husband Christopher Stanley, in the same ship with Robert Lord, in 1635; Susanna aged 31, and Christopher 32 years. No children. Christopher died in 1646.

"SUSANNA married MAJOR PHILLIPS, Sept. 10, 1650, and died Aug. 2, 1655." No children mentioned.

"In 1657, Major Phillips married his third wife, BRIDGET SANFORD; second wife, and widow of Gov. or Pres. John Sanford of R. I., who moved to Boston in 1637. She was the daughter of Wm. and Ann Hutchinson—"the prophetess of doleful heresies," who was murdered by the Indians in 1643, at Pelham, Westchester Co., N. Y., near Hutchinson's river, to which place her family had removed on her banishment from Boston. Mrs. Bridget Phillips, being a quakeress, suffered severely from the persecutions inflicted upon that sect."

"The children of this marriage, were 8. Samuel Phillips, b. Mar. 16, 1658, 9. William Phillips, b. Jan. 28, 1660."

[Savage thinks there was "John, b. Sept. 18, 1656, who died in infancy." But this must be an error, as that date comes after the death of his second wife and before his marriage with the third.]

"SAMUEL PHILLIPS was a bookseller in Boston. He married Hannah, daughter of Capt. Benjamin Gillum."

Duntun says, in his History of Printing, "Samuel Phillips, bookseller of Boston, at the Brick Shop west end of the Town house. If I may trust my eyes, he has a pretty and obliging wife, and he is young and witty, and the most beautiful man in the Town of Boston." [Samuel d. Oct., 1720.]

"JOHN PHILLIPS, 'Stationer's Arms,' Cornhill, was the son of Samuel, and succeeded him in business. He was a magistrate, Col. of the Boston Militia, a member of the General Court, and a deacon in the church in Brattle St. He died April 19, 1763, and was buried with military honours."

"WILLIAM PHILLIPS was the son of John, and succeeded him in business." [He died Jan. 6, 1772].

"The descendants of Samuel Phillips continued the bookselling business in Cornhill, until after the Revolution."

"By the will of Major Phillips, dated Sept. 29, 1683, he appoints his wife Bridget his executrix, and says: 'Having already given portions to each of my four daughters, and whereas, my beloved wife Bridget Phillips brought to me a considerable estate, and by her I have two sons, to whom I have not give portions; I do give and bequeath my estate as follows.'" Then follows the boundaries, of about four miles square. "Also four hundred acres lying at Cape Porpus; also four hundred acres of upland; also an Island, called Cow Island, lying in Saco river; also one-half of an Island, called 'Boniton's Island,' which one-half I bought of John Boniton, Sen., and which lyeth also on Saco river; also my land in Winter Harbor township; and I do give and bequeath all to my beloved wife Bridget Phillips, my second son, Samuel Phillips, and my youngest son, Wm. Phillips, to be equally divided between them.

"Mrs. Bridget Phillips, devised by will, Sept. 29, 1696, to Peleg Sanford, (a son of her former husband, and who was Gov. of Rhode Island from 1680-82,) what the Major had given to her, and what was included in the town now incorporated Sanford.

"The introduction of the names of Phillipstown and Sanford, arose from the foregoing facts.

"The estates of Wm. Sanford, son of Gov. Peleg, were divided in 1736. The deed of partition among his daughters (Mrs. Gov. Oliver and Mrs. Elisha Hutchinson, mother of Gov. Thomas Hutchinson of Mass.) is recorded in Taunton, Mass.

"The freeholders of Phillipstown, and Sanford, Maine, trace the title to their estates through this Deed."

"One half of the 'Fluellen tract,' comprising Alfred, Sanford, and Waterboro, called the '19,000 Acres,' was divided by Major Phillips, in 1676, among the following persons; viz., Nathaniel, his oldest son, (by first wife, Mary) and William, his youngest, (by third wife, Bridget) Mary Field, oldest daughter, Martha Thurston, second daughter, REBECCA LORD, third daughter, Elizabeth Alden, seventh daughter, Sarah Turner, Zackary Gillum, and ROBERT LORD, of London, mariner, (his sons-in-law); Peleg, John, and Elisha Sanford, (step-sons) Eliphel Stratton (wife of Bartholomew Stratton of Boston, and dau. of Gov. John Sanford), John Juliffe, John Woodman, Elisha Hutchinson, Theodore Atkinson, and Wm. Hadam, all of Boston, each 1,000 acres.

"The '19,000 acres,' was intended by Maj. Phillips, to be settled as a township by his children; incorporated under the name of Phillipstown—in 1768, changed to the present name of Sanford.

"Mr. Phillips provided for his son Nathaniel, merchant, of Boston, by giving him a deed for a tract of land on Saco river.

"The division of the Phillips estate, took place in 1718. Those who appeared, were Wm. Phillips, Deborah, the wife of Wm. Skinner, Sarah and Ann Phillips, single women, and Bridget, the wife of John Merrifield—all of Boston, grandchildren of Major Phillips.

"On the part of the other proprietors, John Briggs, of Boston, alone appeared.

"His son William was detained four years in captivity among the Spaniards. His children inherited his share of the property at a subsequent period."

[The 2,000 acres of land in York Co., Me., which ROBERT and REBECCA LORD, inherited from Major Wm. Phillips, appears to have descended to their daughter MARY. Her brother Thomas, according to Savage, "died young" and of Robert there is no record, as heir at law. Sarah, as per affidavit, died without issue: thus Mary Lord Carhart was the only heir to her estate. These estates, by right of primogeniture, descended to her son, John of Rye.]

[In 1807, the children of THOMAS² CARHART, son of John of Rye, brought a joint suit against Thomas Perkins, jr., of Arundell, Me., for the recovery of 20,000 acres of land, in said town of Arundell, which was once owned by John Carhart, late of Rye, their grandfather.

The proceedings in this suit are recorded in the office of the S. J. Court, Alfred, Me., as "having been discontinued in 1808, with costs to defendant," as I am informed by Thos. L. Allen, clerk of said court, (1877). The Hon. John Holmes, lawyer, and Member of Congress, in 1817, conducted this suit, and was afterwards appointed Agent for the sale of lands; but no returns were made to the heirs.

At the time of this suit, the old family Bible of John¹ Carhart, of Rye, was taken to Alfred, as evidence of descent and heirship, and was not returned. Hence the absence of dates, in some instances, connected with the families of John¹, and Thomas²]

Part of an Indian Deed to Major Phillips.

"I, Mogg Megone, of Saco river, etc., etc., do confirm unto the said Major Phillips, a tract of land on Saco and Kenebeck rivers, in breadth, from one river to the other; and in length, beginning at the sea side, and running up the east river to Salmon Falls, on Saco river; and up the Kenebeck to opposite Salmon Falls."

In the 3d verse of Whittier's Poem of Mogg Megone; may be found a reference to Major Phillips, with a note attached, thus:

"MAJOR PHILLIPS, one of the principal men of the Colony. His garrison sustained a long and terrible siege by the savages. As a magistrate and a gentleman, he exacted of his plebeian neighbors a remarkable degree of deference. The Court Records of the settlement inform us, that an individual was fined for the heinous offence of saying that 'Major Phillips' mare was as lean as an Indian's dog.'"

[I have been unable to find historical data by which the family of Major Phillips can be traced in England. A lady of the Gorges family in England married a Mr. John Phillips. She inherited the family seat of Ashton, which was from that time called "Ashton Phillips." William Phillips may have been a descendant of this John Phillips, of Ashton, Somersetshire, as he was a firm adherent and supporter of the cause of Sir Ferdinand Gorges.]

The authorities consulted in compiling the sketch of Major Wm. Phillips, are; Wm. D. Williamson's "History of Maine," Falsom's "History of Saco and Biddiford," Drake's "History of Boston," "Savage's Genealogical Dictionary," "The History of Somersetshire, Eng.," "Dunton's History of Printing," "The Alden Genealogy," with some verbal communications from Thomas Carhart Pinckney, of New York.

"THE family of BROWN, of Rye, was descended from the BROWNS of BEACHWORTH, in the Co. of Kent, Eng., founded by SIR ANTHONY BROWN, who was created a KNIGHT of the BATH, at the coronation of Richard II.

"He left issue, two sons: SIR RICHARD, his heir, and SIR STEPHEN, LORD MAYOR of London, in 1439.

"SIR ROBERT BROWN, living in the time of HENRY V., was father of SIR THOMAS BROWN, treasurer of the Household of HENRY II. and SHERIFF of Kent in 1444 and 1460.

"THOMAS BROWN ESQ., of Rye, Co. of Sussex, Eng., emigrated to Concord, Mass., about 1632, from whence he removed to Cambridge, where he lived for some time.

"His sons were THOMAS and HACKALIAH¹, of Rye, Westchester Co., N. Y. Thomas d. in 1694, and Hackaliah in 1720.

"The latter left I. Deliverance, II. Peter, who d. in 1731 or 2, III. Thomas, who died in 1762, IV. Hackaliah², who died in 1784, V. Benjamin, VI. ANNIE, who married DANIEL² PURDY, VII. Mary.

“FRANCIS PURDY, of Fairfield, Conn., who died in 1658, is believed to have been the common ancestor of the numerous race bearing this name, scattered widely throughout our country. Three sons of Francis (John, JOSEPH, Francis), came early to Rye; John in 1670, Joseph in 1677, Francis in 1679.

“JOSEPH¹ PURDY, is first mentioned in 1677. He was a ‘leading member of the community, being supervisor of the town in 1707–8, Justice of the Peace in 1712, and after, representative of the Co., for several years in the Assembly, and one of the chief promoters of the church,’ writes the Rev. Mr. Wetmore, (many years later).

“With Col. Heathcote, and others in 1701, he purchased lands in North Castle, W. C. Co., N. Y., where some of his descendants settled. His will is dated Oct 5, 1709. He had seven sons: Joseph, DANIEL², Samuel, David, Johnathan, John, (called still John) and Francis.

“DANIEL² PURDY (son of JOSEPH¹), who m. Annie Brown, was one of the patentees of Budd’s Neck, W. C. Co., N. Y., in 1720. He was alive in 1750.

“His house stood on the site of Mr. Sylvanus Purdy’s present tenement house; and his farm lay below this point, on both sides of the road. He also owned one thousand acres in Courtland’s Manor or North Salem, W. C. Co., N. Y., which he left to two of his grandsons. He had five children, 1. Hackaliah³, 2. Joshua, and 3. Daniel³, 4. ELIZABETH, m. THOMAS² CARIHART of Rye, 5. Mary.

“Hackaliah³, (eldest son of Daniel²) lived on the homestead, at Budd’s Neck, and married Sarah, dau. of Elisha Budd.

“Joshua Purdy, (second son of Daniel².) was known as ‘Captain.’ Tradition speaks of him as a man of remarkable excellence. He lived until near the close of the last century. He was highly esteemed by his fellow townsmen. Like many of them, he adhered to the government side, in the great struggle which soon followed, and in 1776 was a prisoner at White Plains. The chairman of the Committee of Safety, wrote Aug. 20, recommending his release, as ‘a man of influence,’ towards whom lenity would be advisable, though he had never been friendly to the American cause.

“At his funeral, the brief eulogy was pronounced over him, ‘a kind husband, a faithful master, a father to the poor, and a pillar to the church.’ See American Archives, 4 series, vol. 1., p. 1524.”—Baird’s History of Rye.

NOTE V.

“THOMAS MERRITT came to Rye in 1673, John, in 1678. It is supposed they were brothers.

“Thomas Merritt, called ‘senior,’ in 1698, had married—perhaps his second wife—Mary, youngest daughter of Robert Francis of Weathersfield, Conn. ‘She was born,’ says Savage, ‘in 1656.’ He had proprietary rights with Robert Bloomer. Thomas Merritt was one of the principal men of Rye. He was sent with Deliverance Brown, in Jan. 1697, to Hartford, to petition the General Court of Conn. to take the town back into its Jurisdiction."—Conn. Rec., vol. 4. p. 192.

"He was forward in building a 'meeting house' and parsonage and procuring a minister, while under Connecticut. He was living in 1713. His children were Thomas, Ephraim, and Samuel."—Baird's History of Rye.

[SYLVANUS MERRITT—father of HANNAH, wife of JOHN³ CARHART, was his grandson. MARY MERRITT, wife of THOMAS³ CARHART, was probably a sister, or cousin.]

NOTE VI.

"JEREMIAH CARHART possessed the stable qualities of English and German stocks. While yet a boy, he was obliged to rely upon his own exertions for support. He learned the trade of cabinet making at Binghanton, N. Y., and continued to labor at it for a few years. In 1836, he went to Buffalo, N. Y., where he married and remained ten years. During these years he made many experiments on the accordion with a view of its improvement. He discovered that the tone of the instrument was much better, when the wind was drawn through the reeds, than when it was expelled through them. This suggested the endeavor to produce a method by which a uniform quality of tone should be obtained. The idea of a 'suction bellows' was entirely novel, and deemed impracticable by other mechanics and musical men; but he concentrated his energies on the invention of an apparatus which would cause the wind to rush into a bellows, with the same velocity by which it was expelled. He worked upon the idea for two years, and finally grasped the principle by which the suction bellows became a fact, and the melodeon, no longer a dream. He found also that the old style of reeds was ill adapted to his purpose, so he perforce invented a new kind of reed, much superior to the old, and new machinery for its manufacture. He may be considered as literally the inventor of the melodeon.

"Several other principles have been developed by him in the course of his long experience in the manufacture of musical instruments, so that some styles of his melodeons approximate to the grandeur of the pipe organ.

"At a fair of the American Institute, he exhibited a superb organ which was one of the chief features of the musical department, and was unanimously awarded the gold medal by the Judges of Musical Instruments.

"The most prominent organists and musicians have given flattering testimonials of their approval of the quality of these instruments."—Fowler's Phrenological Journal.

"ROBERT CARHART became one of the first members of the antique, far-famed Stone M. E. Church in the town of Coeymans, N. Y. when in his thirteenth year.

"At this time he was the only member of his father's family that professed religion; so he covenanted with three neighbor boys to hold a weekly prayer-meeting on a rock, situated in a wood not far from his home.

"Young Robert's efforts were soon blessed with success, and he was made the instrument of leading two of his brothers to Christ. They both lived and died good men.

"Soon after his marriage he removed into the town of Bethlehem, N. Y., where he spent thirty-three years. In the same neighborhood he once asked a hotel-keeper if he would close his bar the next Sabbath, and allow them to hold a prayer-meeting in his ball chamber? The hotel-keeper assented. Hundreds came, a revival spread through the town, and Robert lived to see that small class become a large and flourishing society.

“MELISSA, daughter of JOHN and ANGELINE CARHART, died of hydrophobia, at her father's residence, Amity, Scott Co., Iowa, in the 12th year of her age.

“On the 5th of Nov. 1859, a large dog came to Mr. Carhart's, and as he pursued it to drive it away, Melissa opened the door and the dog rushed into the house. She attempted to drive him out, whereupon he seized her by the left arm, to which he held until her father came in, and with a pitchfork dispatched him, but not in time to save his child. Her arm was badly torn, but soon healed. Her parents and friends indulged a hope that the dog was not rabid, which hope nearly ripened into confidence: but on the 21st inst. some symptoms of an unfavorable character began to make their appearance. On the day following, there were unmistakable signs of hydrophobia. Upon seeing her parents' alarm and tears, she said, 'Don't feel bad; I do not want to see you cry.' She repeated the wish that they would not weep for her. Her father said to her, 'You are sick, and may not get well; I want you to examine the state of your soul, and then tell me how you feel.' She calmly replied, 'I am happy, and I am not afraid to die.' Finding her end approaching, she threw her arms around the necks of her parents, her sister and brothers, kissed and took an affectionate leave of each. On the 23d, at 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ o'clock, p. m., exhausted nature sank calmly into the sleep of death. From first to last she passed through this terrible scene, without a murmur or complaint."—From Methodist Advocate and Journal.

NOTE XVIII.

HACKALIAN¹ CARHART was the fifth son of Thomas² of Rye, who died in 1761, when this son was but six years old.

Before he reached the age of eighteen he had adopted the religious faith of the Quakers.

On the breaking out of the American Revolution, he professed allegiance to the Mother Country, though his religious scruples prevented him from voluntarily entering into warfare on either side. Notwithstanding this he was drafted into the American Army in his 19th year.

On learning this fact, he, with nine others of his own age, who had also been drafted, procured a boat and sought refuge on a British ship, commanded by Lord Howe, then lying in Long Island Sound.

On arriving on board, quite contrary to the expectations of inexperienced youth, they were required to enlist for the war. Seven of the number yielded after a short time, but the subject of this sketch and two others stubbornly refused, and were placed in irons in the hold of the ship on short allowance.

They remained in this situation until they were nearly starved, and had become covered with vermin; when Lieut. Carr, of the 17th Light Dragoons, became interested in their sufferings, and urged them to submit. Under his influence they yielded, and H. C. became his private secretary. After a few months he was transferred, and made Quartermaster of the "Queen's Rangers," under Col. R. G. Simcoe, and Brig. Gen. James De Lancy, "the famous partisan chief of the 'Neutral Ground,' and the ever active Col. of De Lancy's Light-Horse."

"The Queen's Rangers" were styled "The First American Regiment," and the officers ranked with those of the established army. They wore high caps, and were termed "Hussars."

On Friday, Nov. 13, 1779, the house of Col. Thomas Thomas, of Rye Woods, was surprised, and the Col. captured by a party of the "Rangers" under the command of Lieut. Col. Simcoe. During the attack, one man was killed, and another, Thomas Carpenter, came near losing his life, being stabbed in many places by the soldiers' bayonets while hidden under a bed. This man's life was saved by the interposition of Quartermaster Carhart, who accompanied the party of "Rangers," on this occasion.

He was also of the party who captured Gen. Silliman, at Stratford, Conn. The Federalists retaliated by capturing Judge Jones, of Hemp-stead, L. I., and an exchange was made in the middle of L. I. Sound opposite Huntington.

H. C. held the position of Quartermaster to the end of the war, and being disabled and lamed for life, by the falling of his horse upon him—the pommel of the saddle being pressed into his thigh—he was put upon the half-pay list for life.

The writer has heard him affirm many times that he never drew a sword or fired a musket.

He married in 1784, and took up his residence on King St., West Greenwich, Conn., about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Portchester, N. Y. Here he lived, reared a family, and died in 1837. Of the house in which he lived only a ragged outline of the foundation remains, marked by small heaps of stones, the standing remnants of two broad-based stone chimneys, pieces of broken window and door-frames, patches of plaster and scraps of iron.

The old home was built before the Revolution. It was an old style, double house, a broad hall in the centre, one story and a half high, and built of heavy oak timbers. It had an ample yard in front, shaded by rows of noble trees, and was altogether such a home as the great-grandfathers of this generation were proud to call their own.

H. C. was of fine personal appearance, being over six feet in height, of clear complexion, with brilliant hazel eyes, having a military carriage, and great dignity of manner. He was a great reader, and possessed of good intellectual ability, and though of limited education, one whose judgment and opinions were sought and valued by his friends and neighbors.

In the latter part of his life, he became very feeble from the effects of his wound, and the writer well remembers him, seated in his great arm-chair on the old stoop, with his Bible and books around him, seeking to render less tedious the weary days of age and feebleness.

He adhered through life to the faith of the Quakers, and was an uncompromising opposer of slavery.

He died in his eighty-third year, and was buried beside his mother and child Mary, the only one that did not survive him, in his own orchard, near the southern fence of Sherwood's road, and about 250 feet east from the line of King street.

Plain unmarked stones, as was the custom among Quakers, were placed at the graves. The next owner of the farm removed these stones, thus gaining a few more square feet of land for cultivation.

It is with pleasure that these facts are now recorded in such a way as to mark definitely a place still sacred in the memory of his descendants.

“ISAAC ANDERSON, came to Rye in 1707, and styled himself ‘Mariner of New York.’

“In 1713 he bought lands in Will's Purchase and along Byrum river, and became one of the largest land owners in Rye. He built a mill on Byrum river, at Portchester, which is still standing and in use, 1879. His wife's name was Prudence.

“His will is dated 1722, and was admitted to Probate April, 9, 1723.

His son William is appointed administrator. On record at the Surrogate's Office, N. Y. Book 9., p. 425.

"I. A. had four sons, and perhaps others. His oldest, WILLIAM, was Treasurer and Sheriff of New York from 1703 to 1710, and one of the Vestry of Trinity Church from 1715 to 1717.

"In 1750 he bought lands upon the cross road between White Plains and Harrison." [This property remains in the possession of his descendants at the present day. Joseph H. Anderson, member of Congress about 1846, was of this family.]

[Another son was JEREMIAH, who died unmarried, Jan. 22, 1794, and who gave the deed for the Anderson Cemetery. Another son was ISAAC, who belonged to the British Navy, and in 1750 was an overseer in the Navy Yard at Antigua, W. Indies, where he died about 1776.]

[Another son was JAMES, who lived on the east side of King Street, West Greenwich, Conn., about four miles north of Portchester. His will is dated Aug. 27, 1782. The homestead was given to his son WILLIAM, and remains in the possession of his great-granddaughter, ELIZABETH ANDERSON, at the present day, 1879. Isaac, son of James, was the father of MARGARET, who married HACKALIAH¹ CARHART].

NOTE XX.

KING ST. was laid out in 1681, and called the "Kings's Road." It is about 12 miles long, extending from Portchester to Bedford, Westchester Co. It runs about midway of the plateau between Blind Brook and Byrum (old name Armonk) river, and crosses and recrosses the line between New York and Connecticut several times. The house of Hackaliah Carhart stood in Connecticut, but a part of his lawn and the entrance to it was in New York State.—M. E. C. D.

NOTE XXI.

THE ANDERSON CEMETERY is situated on the east side of King street, in Connecticut, about three miles from Portchester. It was deeded for a Cemetery for the Anderson family, and others connected by marriage, by JEREMIAH ANDERSON, brother to the above JAMES (see Note 19). The testator is buried alone in the extreme S. E. corner of the ground. He died Jan. 22, 1794, unmarried.—M. E. C. D.

“PETER, JOSEPH, and GILBERT TOTTEN, came from England early in the 18th century.

“PETER is mentioned in 1739 as living on west side of King St., Rye, W. C. Co., N. Y., about four miles north of Portchester.”

[DAVID, son of Peter, b. about 1730, inherited his father's farm, which again descended to his son Samuel, who was the father of PHEBE TOTTEN, who married ALFRED CARHART.]

II. “JOSEPH TOTTEN engaged in mercantile pursuits in the city of New York. [John C. Totten, book publisher in the early part of this century, was his grandson.]

“Attached to the cause of the mother country, he left that city, on the breaking out of the American Revolution, for Annapolis, Nova Scotia, leaving behind him two sons, one of whom, PETER GILBERT, married, in 1787, GRACE MANSFIELD, of New Haven, who died leaving two children.

“1. GEN. JOSEPH GILBERT TOTTEN.

“2. SUSAN MARIA, who married COL. BEATTY, an English officer, and who was still living in 1865, a widow in London.

“JOSEPH GILBERT TOTTEN, entered the Academy at West Point and graduated in 1805. Was attached for many years to the U. S. coast survey, with the title of Gen. by Brevet. He died at Washington, D. C., April 22, 1864.

“PETER GILBERT TOTTEN, father of GEN. JOSEPH GILBERT TOTTEN, was appointed U. S. Consul at Santa Cruz. His son was left under the care of his maternal uncle, Jared Mansfield, a graduate of Yale College, and a learned mathematician. In 1802, his uncle was appointed Capt. of Engineers and teacher in the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

“COMMODORE BENJAMIN J. TOTTEN was born in the West Indies, and entered the United States Navy, from Connecticut, on the 5th of March, 1823. In 1830 he was promoted to the rank of Passed Midshipman. In 1834 he attained the rank of Lieutenant. In 1855 he received his commission as Commander. In 1862 he received his commission as Commodore.

“COMMODORE TOTTEN was placed on the retired list under the Act of April 21, 1864, his services extending over more than 18 years. During the past few years he has resided at New Bedford, where he died, May 9th, 1877, aged 71 years.

“The English TEMPLES married into the American TOTTEN family, and young Totten, of the Army, so recently killed by the cars mutilating him, was a descendant of this family.”

III. [GILBERT TOTTEN settled on the southern point of Staten Island, and founded TOTTENVILLE, where his descendants are living at the present date, 1879.]

"THE PECKS were found seated at Belton, Yorkshire, Eng., at a very early date. A branch settled at Wakefield, in Yorkshire, whose descendants removed to Beccles, Suffolk Co., and were the ancestors of Joseph, who came to Hingham, Mass., in 1638. He was a lineal descendant, in the 21st generation, from John Peck, Esq., of Belton, Yorkshire, and was baptized, April 30, 1587, being in the fiftieth year of his age. Samuel Peck, a lineal descendant of Joseph of Hingham, Mass., settled at Greenwich, Conn., and died there in 1746, aged 88 years. He had, Samuel, Jr., Jeremiah, Joseph, David, Nathaniel, Eliphelet, THEOPHILUS, Peter, and Robert.

"Samuel, Jr., had John and Samuel. The latter, a deacon at Greenwich, in 1793, had Calvin, of Sharon, Conn.

"THEOPHILUS had a grandson David, a Baptist minister, and ROBERT, a deacon, who died in 1828, aged 85 years. [The latter was the grandfather of ROBERT, the father of ANNIE, who married ALFRED CARHART.]

"THE TOWN of PELHAM is enclosed on the east and north by the township of New Rochelle, on the west by Hutchinson's river, which separates it from East Chester, and on the south by the Sound, and lies ten miles south of the village of White Plains.

"Prior to the Revolution, PELHAM formed a portion of the old Manor of that name, which originally combined nine thousand one hundred and sixty acres."

"The name is of Saxon origin, and compounded of the words PEL, (remote) and HAM, (mansion.)

"PELHAM is the name of a Lordship in Herefordshire, Eng., and recorded to have been part of the possessions of WALTER DE PELHAM, A. D., 1292.

"A grant from the Sachem Ann-hoock was confirmed to THOMAS PELL, ESQ., on the 6th day of Oct., 1666, by his Excellency Richard Nichols, and recorded in the Office of New York, Oct. 8. 1666.

"The PELLs boast a remote antiquity, tracing their descent from the ancient family of that name in Lincolnshire. The seal of JOHN PELL, ESQ., attached to the Patent of New Rochelle, is charged with the arms of this ancient family.

Er. on a canton, az. a pelican, or. vulned gules.

This coat seems to have been granted, Oct. 19, 1594.

"Of this family was JOHN PELL, ESQ., of the Co. of Norfolk, Steward and Master of the King's Cup, living in 1597.

"His eldest son was JOHN, in holy orders, Rector of Southwyck, in Sussex Co., Eng., who died A. D. 1616.

"This individual was the father of two sons, THOMAS PELL, b. in Southwyck, in 1608, first proprietor of the Manor of Pelham, and the Rev. John Pell, D. D., Rector of Fobbington, Essex.

"DR. PELL entered Trinity College, Cambridge, Eng. He became an eminent mathematician. His Patron was the PRINCE of Orange, who presented him with the Professorship of Mathematics, at Breda, in Holland. In 1654, he received an appointment from Oliver Cromwell, as English Resident Ambassador, to the Swiss Cantons, and received his letter of recall, from the Protector, May 6, 1658, arriving at home just three weeks previous to the death of his Patron on the 3rd of Sept., 1658.

“By the will of THOMAS PELL, ESQ., he bequeathed all his ‘lands and houses in any part of New England, or in the Territory of the Duke of York,’ to his nephew John Pell living in Auld England, the only son of his brother John Pell, D. D. John Pell, the legatee, came to America in 1670, and married Rachel Pinckney of East Chester, N. Y.”—See Bolton's History of Westchester, N. Y.

NOTE XXVIII.

“ABOUT the epoch of the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes (1685), JEAN LOUIS MERLE, of Nismes, who was a sincere Protestant, fled from his country, and took refuge in Switzerland, in order to enjoy the religious liberty which France, under the rule of Louis XIV., denied him.

“His son, FRANCIS MERLE, married, in the year 1743, Elizabeth, the daughter of a Protestant nobleman residing in Geneva, whose name was GEORGE D'AUBIGNÉ. Agreeable to a usage which exists in Geneva, and in many other portions of Switzerland, by which a gentleman adds the name of his wife to his own, in order to distinguish him from other persons of the same name, Mr. Francis Merle appended that of d'Aubigné to his own, and was known as FRANCIS MERLE D'AUBIGNÉ. Since his day, the family have retained the name of Merle d'Aubigné.

“GEORGE D'AUBIGNÉ, just mentioned, whose daughter Elizabeth became the wife of FRANCIS MERLE, was a descendant of Theodore Agrippa d'Aubigné, who left France, in the year 1620, on account of religious persecutions. Theodore Agrippa d'Aubigné was the son of John d'Aubigné, Lord of Brie, in Saintonge, and Catharine de l'Estang, and was born Feb. 8, 1550, O. S. The d'Aubigné pedigree may be traced from Savari d'Aubigné, commander of the castle of Chiron, in France, for the King of England—a descendant of the d'Aubignés of Anjou.

“This Theodore Agrippa d'Aubigné was no common man. The old chronicles called him ‘a zealous Calvinist, if there ever was one.’ He bought the domain of Lods, near Geneva, on which he built the Château of Crest, which still remains. The old Huguenot warrior handled the pen and the lyre, as well as the sword; and his ‘Tragiques,’ a poem full of life and genius, drew a vivid picture of the court of the imbecile Henry III. of France, and his infamous mother Catharine de Medici.

“His ‘Histoire Universelle de la fin du 16me Siècle,’ had the honor of being publicly burnt at Paris in the year 1620, by order of Louis XIII. He wrote also the ‘Confession de Sancy,’ and several other works. At the age of eight years he knew well the Latin and the Greek languages. At fourteen, he went to Geneva to finish his studies at the University of that city. Having completed his course at that Institution, he returned to France; whence, as has been stated he was compelled to fly in the year 1620.”—Robert Baird.

“He married first Mademoiselle de Lezey, of St. Gelais, who died in 1595. D'Aubigné left three children, Constant, his only son, (who was the father of Madame de Maintenon), and two daughters. The eldest daughter married the Seigneur d'Adets de Caumont ; the other, the Seigneur de Villette de Murfey. After the death of his first wife he became allied by marriage with the families of the Burlamachi and Calandrini, two of the most honorable families in the city of Geneva, both of Italian origin, for Geneva was the 'City of refuge' to persecuted and exiled Protestants of Italy, as well as of France. D'Aubigné died in 1630.—Life of Theodore Agrippa d'Aubigné.

"MARCHIONESS FRANCOISE D'AUBIGNÉ, second wife of Louis XIV. of France, was born in Niort, Nov. 27, 1635. She was the daughter of Constant d'Aubigné, and Jennie de Cardillac, and granddaughter of Theodore Agrippa d'Aubigné, the Huguenot historian of his time, and the friend and companion of Henry IV.

"Madame took the name of MAINTENON, from an estate at Versailles, which the King purchased for her. She was married privately at Versailles, Père la Chaise, in the presence of the Archbishop of Paris.

"FRANCIS MERLE D'AUBIGNÉ had many children, one of whom, AMIE ROBERT MERLE D'AUBIGNÉ, was born in 1755, and was the father of three sons. The oldest was GUILLAUME MERLE D'AUBIGNÉ, a merchant well known for forty years in New York city and Brooklyn.

"The second was the REV. DR. JOHN HENRI MERLE D'AUBIGNÉ, of Geneva, Switzerland, author of the 'History of the Reformation of the 16th Century.'

"The third was JOHN AMIE MERLE D'AUBIGNÉ, a merchant of New Orleans."

NOTE XXIX.

"REV. THOMAS NEWMAN, became a member of the M. E. Church, at the age of sixteen.

"In 1829, he was licensed to preach. He joined the N. Y. Conference in 1831, and afterwards received the following appointments: Saratoga, 1831-2, Chatham, N. Y., 1833, Marblatown, 1834-5, and subsequently, New Windsor, Sugar Loaf, Montgomery, New Paltz, Plattekill, Ellen-ville and Monroe, Orange Co., N. Y.

His health failing in 1856, he was obliged to retire from the active ministry.

"From 1855 to 1875 he lived in the city of Oswego and town of Granby Centre, N. Y., and one year before his death moved to Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.

"He was a good preacher, a faithful pastor, and a conscientious disciplinarian; and is affectionately remembered by those who came within the circle of his labors.

"He endured the great suffering of his last illness with patience and fortitude. His end was peaceful and full of trust, and of him it may be said, 'He wrapped the drapery of his couch about him, and lay down to pleasant dreams.'"—Methodist Advocate and Journal.

NOTE XXX.

“MARY FLETCHER ABBOTT, wife of REV. HENRY C. ABBOTT, of the Northern N. Y. Conference, and daughter of Rev. Thomas Newman, of the N. Y. Conference, died at Heuvelton, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y., Feb. 2, 1874. She was a woman of rare Christian worth, a cheerful worker in the Church, a devoted wife and mother, a true helpmate to her husband, sharing his anxieties, and helping to bear his burdens. She met with fortitude, and bore without complaint, the peculiar privations and hardships of the Methodist itinerancy. During the thirteen years of her married life, she was abundant in Christian labors.

“The last few months of her life were a season of special trial. During her brief illness she was most of the time delirious, but in her lucid moments, assured her attendants that ‘She was going home.’ During moments of severe suffering she would whisper that verse of Wesley’s hymn,

“Oh what are all my sufferings here,
If, Lord, Thou count me meet?”

“Commending the dear children and the loved companion to the God in whom she trusted, she passed through the opened gates in triumph, and entered into rest.”—From the Methodist Advocate and Journal.

NOTE XXXI.

“THE HUGUENOTS, or French Protestants of New Rochelle, came directly from England, and were a part of the 50,000 persecuted who fled into that country four years before the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes.

“This is confirmed by the charter of Trinity Church in New Rochelle, wherein they specify that they fled from France in 1681.

“The cruelties which they suffered in France are beyond anything of the kind on record, and in no age was there ever such a violation of all that is sacred either with relation to God or man; and when we consider the exalted virtues of that glorious band of brothers, we are amazed, while we are delighted with their fortitude and courage. Rather than renounce their Christian principles they endured outrages shocking to humanity, persecutions of unheard of enormity, and death in all its horrors.

“To be a Huguenot was enough to ensure condemnation. Whoever bore this name was imprisoned, arraigned for their lives, and, adhering to their profession, were condemned by merciless judges to the flames. Some of the name and character were murdered in cold blood and massacred without any legal forms of justice.

“On Sunday, Aug. 24, 1572, was perpetrated the massacre of St. Bartholomew. De Thou, a Popish historian, relates that 30,000 perished on this terrible occasion. Another estimates 100,000. In Paris alone they amounted to 10,000, and among the number 500 Huguenot lords, knights and military officers, with several thousand gentlemen.

"Some of the Huguenot families of New Rochelle, appear to have preserved the memory of that fatal day, by adopting it as a Christian name for their offspring.

"Under the promise of protection from King Charles II. of England, in 1681, the Huguenots of New Rochelle fled from France to England, aided in their escape by the English vessels that lay for some time off the Island of Rhé, opposite La Rochelle, in which they were conveyed to England. Tradition says they were subsequently transported to America in one of the King's ships.

"Bonnetois, or Bouffet's Point, on Davenport's Neck, on the north shore of Long Island Sound, was the spot where they first landed about 1689. Upon this spot the first house was erected, the remains of which are still visible.

"There is a tradition that one of the old Huguenots would daily repair to this place, and turning his eyes in the direction where he supposed France was situated, would sing one of Marot's hymns, and send to heaven his morning devotions."

"The first church edifice of New Rochelle of which anything is known, was built by the Huguenots about 1692-3, upon the site of the present Episcopal Church."—Bolton's Westchester.

"Prior to the erection of this church, the devoted inhabitants of this town walked regularly every Sunday to New York, a distance by the road of 23 miles, to attend the Sabbath service of the old Church du St. Esprit, in Pine St., and returned in the evening to their homes. They invariably commenced their march on Sunday morning by singing one of the psalms of Clement Marot.

"Prior to their departure on Sunday, they collected the young children, and left them in the care of friends, while they set off early in the morning and walked to the city barefooted, carrying their shoes and stockings in their hands, stopping by the way to take rest and refreshments, and at a fresh water pond near the city, washing their feet and putting on their shoes and stockings, and then walking to the French Church. They continued to worship after this manner till the American Revolution broke out."—Recollections of the late John Pintard, L.L.D.

"The ancestor of the SYCARD or Secor family was AMBROISE SYCARD, who married JENNIE SERROT. They had Ambroise, DANIEL, and Jaques."—Bolton's History Westchester.

"DANIEL¹, had DANIEL², jr., whose wife was MARIE; and they had JOHNATHAN, b. Feb. 8, 1742, who married SARAH FLANDREAU, bap. Sept. 9, 1761, (dau. of James and Marie Flandreau). Their dau. MARY, b. March 1778, m. March, 1802, JESSE ADAMS, of Scarsdale, b. April, 1779, (son of Jesse Adams and Sarah Rogers, of White Plains, Westchester Co., N. Y.)

"The first persons of the name of FLANDREAU, who came to America, were JACQUES FLANDREAU and his wife, who landed here about 1689. He is referred to as collector at New Rochelle, in 1710. His son JAMES FLANDREAU, b. about 1721, married MARIE — and had SARAH, bap. Sept. 19, 1751, who married JOHNATHAN SECOR, and had MARY, b. March 1778, and married, March 1802, JESSE ADAMS, of Scarsdale, Westchester Co., N. Y."—Family Records.

[Mrs. Armenia Chesbro, of Nottingham, Ohio, oldest child of Jesse and Mary Secor Adams, relates the following tradition, descriptive of the embarkation of her great-great-grandparents, from Rochelle, France.]

“They were very pious Christians, and left France at the time of the persecutions of the Huguenots. They felt that they loved their religion more than they did the things of this world; and being so sadly persecuted and deprived of the enjoyment of it, they determined to leave Rochelle, and find freedom in America.

“A few hours before the time of sailing, they learned that a ship would leave Rochelle in the night. Without informing any of their neighbors of their intention they filled a chest with the best they had, of clothing and other valuables; and a friend, the only one in the secret, drove a dray to the back entrance of the house, upon which they placed the chest, and then loaded the dray to the top with hay, to avoid suspicion; and thus their little all was taken to the ship.

“Then they set the table as for supper, heated the oven, and placed bread therein, leaving the lid down, so that if any one came in they would suppose them to be absent but for a short time. Then, in their common clothes, they quietly walked to the shore, and were taken on board, thus leaving their native land with deep feelings of sadness, but looking forward with joyful anticipations of happiness and freedom in their new home.”

[Mrs. Chesbro had the chest in her possession until recently, when she committed it to the care and keeping of her nephew, W. I. Adams, of Montclair, N. J.]

NOTE XXXII.

“HON. GEORGE BRIGGS was born in Fulton, N. Y., in 1805, and removed with his parents to Vermont in 1812. In 1837, he was elected a member of the lower house of the Vermont Legislature, and served one term; at the end of which he removed to New York in 1838, where he engaged in the hardware business, in which he amassed a large fortune. He was elected as a Whig, to Congress, from New York, in 1849, serving until 1853. In 1858, he was again elected as a representative in the thirty-sixth Congress, and served as Chairman of the Committee on Revolutionary Claims.”—Congressional Reports.

[As a citizen of New York, the Hon. George Briggs held a deservedly high position, and was much esteemed by all who knew him. He married Charlotte Sweet, daughter of Dr. Sweet, of Shaftsbury, Vt.]

NOTE XXXIII.

WILL of CORNELIUS¹ CARHART, the son of ROBERT,¹ and grandson of THOMAS.¹

In the name of God, Amen, the eleventh day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and six, I, Cornelius Carhart, Senr., of Mansfield, in the County of Sussex, and State of New Jersey, being of sound mind and memory, and calling to mind the mortality of my body, and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die, do make and ordain this my last will and testament, that is to say, principally, and first of all, I give and recommend my soul into the hands of God, who gave it, and for my body, I recommend it to the earth to be buried in Christianlike and decent manner, at the discretion of my executors, nothing doubting, but at the resurrection I shall receive the same again, by the power of God ; and as touching such worldly estate, wherewith it hath pleased God to bless me in this life, I give, devise and dispose of the same in manner and form as following, viz. : In the first place I order that my funeral charges and just debts be paid, likewise, as soon after my decease as may be convenient, I order that my executors hereinafter named, do cause an inventory of all my movable estate to be taken, except such articles as will be hereafter named, and to dispose of them to the best advantage at vendue. And my will is, that the amount of the sales of such movables, after paying my funeral charges and my just debts, be divided amongst my children, and my dearly beloved wife, as undernamed, share and share alike, viz. :

Cornelius, Robert, Samuel and John Carhart, Mary, wife of Robert McShane, Sarah, wife of John Dusenbury, Lydia, wife of James Bowlby, Williamphy, wife of Benjamin Lacy, and Phebe, wife of John Coleman, and my wife, Williamphy. And likewise my will is, that my widow do live in the new house, on the homestead farm, and that my sons, Samuel Carhart and John Carhart, do pay or cause to be paid to my widow, five pounds each, yearly and each year during her natural life, and likewise I order that my son John Carhart do provide, or cause to be provided, everything necessary for my widow's maintenance, and that in a decent and genteel manner ; and likewise my will is, that my widow have for her own proper use, out of my movable estate as under : one feather bed and bedstead and bedding complete, one chest, the dresser, and what may go on it, three chairs, one table, half dozen knives and forks, and what linen or woollen yarn may be on hand at my decease. My will is that my widow have what she chooses for her own use, and likewise one cow, the choice of the flock, three sheep and large brass kettle. Likewise I give unto my son, Robert Carhart, a certain bond of fifty pounds, with what interest may be due thereon, which I have against Cornelius Carhart, Jr., due May the first, one thousand eight hundred and two. Likewise I give and bequeath to my two grandsons, John D. Carhart and Daniel Carhart, ten pounds each, to be paid out of my movable estate. Likewise I give and bequeath to my son John Carhart, one bay horse and young brown mare, wagon and harness for two horses, one plough and irons ; likewise two bonds and two notes, that I have against Cornelius Carhart, Jr., as under one bond of fifty pounds, due May first, one thousand eight hundred and one ; two notes of six pounds five shillings each, due May first, one thousand eight hundred and three ; and one bond of five hundred dollars, due May first, one thousand eight hundred and six. My will is that the above obligations, principal and interest, are not to be paid to my executors, nor to any other, but that the whole be canceled and of no effect. I likewise give, devise and bequeath to my son John Carhart, my homestead plantation, to him, his heirs and assigns for ever. Likewise I give, devise and bequeath to my son Samuel Carhart, the tavern lot, to him, his heirs and assigns for ever. Likewise my will is that the two wood lots, one bought of Robert Shields, and the other bought of Thomas Bowlby, be equally divided ; and I do give and devise and bequeath to my son John Carhart, his heirs and assigns for ever, one equal half of said lots so divided ; and

I likewise give and devise and bequeath to my son Samuel Carhart, to him, his heirs and assigns for ever, the other equal half of each lot so divided. Likewise I give and devise and bequeath to my son Robert Carhart, and my daughters, as under named : Mary, wife of Robert McShane, Sarah, wife of John Dusenbury, Lydia, wife of James Bowlby, Williamphy, wife of Benjamin Lucy, Phebe, wife of John Coleman, to them, their heirs and assigns forever, all my lands lying and being in the State of Virginia, share and share alike. I do likewise constitute and appoint Samuel Sherwood and my son Samuel Carhart, to be my sole and lawful executors of this my last will and testament, as witness my hand and seal the date first above written.

CORNELIUS CARHART, SEN.

Signed, sealed, published and pronounced and delivered, this to be my last will and testament, in the presence of

ROBERT PIERSON.
WILLIAM MILLER.
JOHN SHERWOOD.

NOTE XXXIV.

“JOSEPH BEAVERS was Colonel of the 2nd Regiment, Hunterdon Co., Militia in 1776, and held the office during the Revolutionary War, according to records in the Adj. General's office, Trenton, N. J. He was of Scotch-Irish descent, and settled in Hunterdon Co. before the war. He was for some time a Justice of the Peace, and remarkable for his love of right doing. His courts were more properly Chancery Courts, than Courts of Law. His judgments were seldom appealed from, and usually not with success. He was also, for some time, a Judge of the Common Pleas, for Hunterdon Co., carrying out his love of right in all his decisions. If the law agreed with his conception of justice, it was well; if not, he decided in accordance with his understanding of it, law or no law. He was a man of stern integrity, and feared no man, in doing what he considered to be his duty. Any one who deserved a reprimand from him, and received it, did not require another from the same source soon. He deprecated law-suits generally, and settled many in a friendly way, without costs. He contributed largely towards building the Presbyterian Church at Greenwich, N. J., in 1775, of which he was a member. One of the pews, of the ancient and orthodox style, was built and owned by Judge Beavers. He owned and managed a large farm, equal to two, at the present time. His family consisted of two sons and thirteen daughters. Joseph, the eldest, died young. George purchased an estate and became the proprietor of the Pattenburgh Mill, now known as Beaver's Mill, near Clinton, N. J. The remains of this Christian patriot were interred in the Cemetery of the Greenwich Church.”—Communicated.

NOTE XXXV.

“GEORGE BEAVERS CARHART, of Hunterdon Co., N. J., passed many years in the Southern States, connected at times with a number of banking institutions, in different important cities of the South. He was as well, at other periods, engaged in commerce, and for several years President of the N. Y. and N. Haven R. R.”—Communicated.

NOTE XXXVI.

"SIMRI ROSE, ESQ., born in 1799, at North Branford, Conn., died Dec. 12, 1868, at Macon, Ga. His first American ancestor was Robert Rose, who with Margery, his wife, and seven children, embarked at Ipswich, Co. of Suffolk, Eng., April, 1634, in the ship Francis, John Cutting, master, for the colonies.

"It is not clearly ascertained that this family settled at Watertown, Mass., as was supposed, but it is probable, as they came over in the same ship with several Watertown families, and belonged to the colony that went to settle Wethersfield. Robert Rose was sworn in constable at Wethersfield, Feb. 6, 1639. On the Nanbec farms he had an allotment of 312 acres. In 1644 part of the church at Wethersfield removed to Totokel (Branford) on account of difficulties with their minister, Rev. Henry Smith.

"Robert Rose was one of the eight individuals who purchased the Totokel grant from the first proprietors. He died at Branford, 1664-5, leaving a large estate. His eldest son, John, built the first house in that portion of the grant known now as North Branford, about 1680. According to tradition, he was succeeded by his eldest son, Capt. Johnathan Rose, who died in 1736. This latter left several children. From his second son, David, born 1700, died Sept. 1785, was descended, Simri, of Macon, Ga. It is stated in a church record that both 'David Rose, and Hannah his wife, died of old age.' The epitaph on the tomb of the latter is as follows :

" From English tyranny she fled,
And made a safe retreat.
She now is free among the dead ;
Her soul immortal great."

"Simri Rose went to Macon, Ga., when it was but an unimportant, frontier town, and there made his home.

"He was Editor and Proprietor of a paper, called the 'Macon Messenger,' from the time of its foundation until his death. It is at the present day one of the influential papers of the State.

"Simri Rose was a public spirited and influential citizen ; always taking an interest in every enterprise that tended towards the prosperity of Macon. It was due to his influence and personal exertions that the 'Rose Hill Cemetery' was founded, one of the finest in the State, and which still bears his name."—Communicated.

NOTE XXXVII.

"COL. EDMUND BLOUNT, of Sodington, Co. Worcester, England, emigrated with two brothers, to North Carolina, and lived near Plymouth.

"He was well known in that state, and was actively engaged with a military force, during the revolutionary struggle with England, quelling the disturbances of the Tories and preventing their inroads upon the farms and the families of those who had gone to the war.

"He was at times a Member of the Legislature, and, when at home, the general benefactor of the poor; his house being noted for the generous hospitality it afforded.

"COL. EDMUND BLOUNT, married a Miss Rhodes; and by her had issue, JAMES BLOUNT ESQ., who married ELIZABETH GREGOIRE DE ROULHAC, b. Oct. 4, 1786, daughter of PSALMET GREGOIRE DE ROULHAC, of the Hermitage, Beaufort, N. C.

"PSALMET GREGOIRE DE ROULHAC, was a member of the noble family of de Roulhac, of Limoges, France, and came to North Carolina, in 1777, as agent for a commercial house in France. He married in 1783, Miss Annie Maule, a lady of wealth, residing on the Pamlico river, in the vicinity of a little town called Washington.

"JAMES BLOUNT, ESQ., removed to Georgia in the early part of this century. His daughter, LAVINA HELEN ELIZABETH BLOUNT, married SIMRI ROSE of Macon, Ga., and their daughter, MARY E. ROSE, married GEORGE BEAVERS CARHART."—Communicated.

NOTE XXXVIII.

CHARLES^d CARHART, son of JOHN, and great grandson of CORNELIUS^l, resides at Perryville, Hunterdon Co., N. J., and owns a large portion of the homestead of his grand-uncle, CORNELIUS². He has been untiring in his exertions, and unsparing in liberality, in tracing the Carhart history.

I have permission to speak here of an affliction of which Charles Carhart has sustained the life-long and saddening trial; which is, that he has not heard the sound of the human voice since his twelfth year, having lost his hearing from scarlet fever. Notwithstanding this affliction, he has lived a most active life, and found enjoyment and happiness where many would have yielded to repinings and despair.—M. E. C. D.

NOTE XXXIX.

"MR. KENYON, is a practical machinist and manufacturer, at Raritan, N. J. He has made many valuable improvements in machinery for the manufacture of woolen goods, which have been introduced into the woolen manufactories of Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, New Jersey and Ohio, and his patented machines are in use in almost every country of the world.

"Mr. Kenyon is grand-nephew of the founder of Kenyon College, Ohio, and is descended from the N. Y. branch of the Kenyon family. He is a second cousin of Congressman Kenyon, of N. Y. state. He is connected, on his mother's side, with the Crane family, of Elizabeth, N. J., whose ancestors left England during the reign of Charles II., having been obliged to flee from religious persecution. Their ancestor was Stephen Crane, who came with a company of 113, in the ship Caledonia, which they had repaired and fitted out at their own expense. The vessel was wrecked off the coast of Amboy, N. J., but all reached the shore in safety. They were among the first settlers of Elizabeth, N. J., where many of their descendants still reside."—Communicated.

NOTE XL.

From the Clinton, N. J., Democrat.—"The announcement of the sudden death of Mr. JAMES D. CARHART, long a prominent merchant of New York, which occurred on the 23d ult., at the Albemarle Hotel, N. Y., was received with profound regret by his many friends in this vicinity. It seems by the Macon, Ga., papers, that the sad news also caused a severe shock in that city. We quote from The Macon Telegraph and Messenger of that city, the following sketch of deceased :

"Mr. Carhart was born on the 2d day of May, 1815, in Hunterdon county, New Jersey, and was consequently in the 63d year of his age. He came to Macon in 1831, and for a number of years was employed as clerk by Wm. B. Parker, at that time one of the leading merchants of Macon. His first lessons in business were received from Mr. Parker, who was an intelligent, honorable and high-toned gentleman, and an admirable model for the young men in his employ. When Mr. Parker retired from active business, Mr. Carhart formed a copartnership with the late Isaac Scott. After the dissolution of this firm, he associated his brother, William B. Carhart, and John B. Stow in business with him, under the firm name of Carhart, Bro. & Co., and, as a member of that firm, was for many years one of the most successful and influential merchants of our city. In February, 1852, Messrs. Carhart, Brother & Co., sold their business to Carhart & Roff, and on the 20th of May, 1852, removed to New York, to avail themselves of the facilities of that great city for the expansion of their business. On the day previous to their departure from Macon, a complimentary dinner was given them at the Lanier House, at which the honored James Rea, the Nestor of our merchants presided; and the account of the dinner which appears in the files of The Journal and Messenger, shows very clearly the high appreciation in which Mr. Carhart and his partner were held by the mercantile community of Macon. Upon the wider theater of action to which he removed he was as successful as he had been in this city and to the day of his death he was a model of method, regularity, promptness, devotion to his business, and fidelity to all his engagements.

"When the war between the States began, Mr. Carhart and his brother, William B. Carhart, came promptly to the South, and remained in Georgia until the surrender, sharing with its people the losses, the sacrifices, the privations, and the anxieties of that memorable struggle. Though doing business in New York, he has always regarded our city as in some sense his home, has made large investments in the State, and has kept up a constant and close intercourse with its business men. He was familiarly and intimately known to many of the oldest citizens, who will receive with profound sorrow and regret the announcement of his death. Mr. Carhart married Miss Sarah Curd, of this city, a daughter of Mrs. Sarah E. Curd, in 1846, who, with four children, survives him.

"He was an exemplary man in all the relations of life, and his career as a merchant was eminently honorable and successful. He was fortunate in his life and fortunate in his death, for his sun sank suddenly from its meridian, and he died in the full possession of all his powers."

NOTE XLI.

CORNELIUS² CARHART, son of CORNELIUS,¹ of Sussex Co., settled at what is now known as Perryville, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

The oldest real estate owned by the Carhart family in Hunterdon Co., is a property on the Old Post Road, between New Brunswick and Easton, Pa., being about fourteen miles from the latter place. This estate was purchased by CORNELIUS², great grandson of THOMAS¹, about 1788-90, and then comprised about 200 acres. Here Cornelius built a good substantial house, and the necessary farm buildings, which are still in a good state of preservation, and here, as the years came and went, the lapse of time was marked by prosperity, and the family circle was enlarged to a goodly number. About 1812, Cornelius commenced building a hotel a short distance from his residence, for the better accommodation of wayfarers in a sparsely inhabited country. The house was situated on the Post Road, and is known at the present day as the Brick Hotel, and the place and surroundings, as Perryville. This name was adopted from the following facts and circumstances:—Soon after the building was finished news came of the victory of Perry on Lake Erie, and as the place was without a special name, and was fast becoming worthy of that honor, it was proposed to call it Perryville, thus commemorating the victory and the name of the hero.

Prosperity in wealth and increase in numbers seems to have prevailed with the Carharts of Perryville, and the grand-nephews of Cornelius now own about 2000 acres in the vicinity. A large portion, together with the family home, is owned by CHARLES CARHART, above mentioned as the patron of the Record (See Note 38).—M. E. C. D.

NOTE XLII.

SAMUEL CARHART, Superintendent of the temperance-incorporated borough of Ocean Beach, died of apoplexy at that place, on May 13, 1879, while waiting with some friends the arrival of the train of the Long Branch Division of the Central New Jersey R.R.

He was 44 years of age, and was apparently in his usual health until he was stricken with this disease.

He was a pioneer Surveyor on the Central R.R. line, along the seashore, and was engaged in the Civil Engineer Corps of the Central R.R. on the proposed new road from Sea Girt to Tom's River.

He had also been employed on different railroads in his professional capacity. He was President of Ocean Beach, and one of the founders of the prosperous young village wherein he had made his home.

On the breaking out of the late war, he was appointed Captain of the 31st N. J. Regiment. His service in this capacity having expired he was appointed Provost Marshal of Elizabeth; both of which positions he filled satisfactorily.

He was highly respected in the community in which he lived, and was one of the best known citizens of Monmouth Co. He was buried under Masonic direction.—M. E. C. D.

NOTE XLIII.

“JOHN CARHART may be said to have founded the village of Zion, Md. When he took possession of this land it was in a most unpromising condition, worn out and overgrown with scrub pine and almost without fences. There was a log church (Methodist), called Zion Church, and two or three small houses. With the energy and perseverance of one determined to conquer, he commenced agricultural improvements. He put up good buildings and fences, underdrained wet lands, and by the free use of fertilizers, has made “the wilderness to blossom as the rose.” He also built a store, which was conducted by himself and sons, and a substantial brick church, (Presbyterian) was erected on his land, under his supervision. Around this nucleus, a thriving village has sprung up. The farmers, one by one, have followed his example in cultivating and improving their lands, and now the country around, as far as the eye can reach, is dotted with comfortable houses, surrounded by fields of grain and other farm products, and enclosed by good fences. Much of this improvement can be traced to the influence of the moral force and physical energy of John Carhart, and his truly estimable wife and family. The sons, six in number, are prosperously engaged in mercantile pursuits, in Philadelphia and Oxford, Pa., and Zion, Md.

“J. C. is interested and active in all public enterprise, and has been a trustee in the Presbyterian Church for thirty years. Being in his 76th year he has lived to pass the fiftieth anniversary of his wedding day in health and prosperity.”—M. E. C. D.

NOTE XLIV.

JOHN LARISON, a Danish nobleman, in the reign of Frederick III of Denmark, lost his estates by confiscation, and was obliged to flee from his country in consequence of political disturbances growing out of a conspiracy, in 1660, between the clergy and burghers, in the interest of the King, with the design of humbling the nobles by the imposition of taxes, from which they had previously been exempt.

The nobles were stubborn in their resistance, but were at last obliged to yield, and the most prominent leaders became liable to imprisonment or death.

JOHN LARISON fled to Scotland, and learning that a price was set upon his head, he came to America, about the year 1700, and purchased a large tract of land near Brooklyn, N. Y. He lived to an advanced age, and died at Chester, Morris Co., N. J. He had six sons, two of whom were killed by the Indians. The others were Roger, JAMES, William and John.

Roger Larison, his son, settled in Pennsylvania.

William and John located at Chester, Morris Co., N. J. The estate of William, on the North bank of the Black River, opposite the Chester Depot, is still in possession of his descendants. In the centre of this tract of 300 acres, is a large burying-ground, in which once stood a Presbyterian church, (now removed to the village of Chester.) In this grave-yard are buried the Larison descendants of nearly two generations, as many marble stones bear witness.

William Larison d. at Chester, Sept. 1777, leaving three sons; Andrew James and David.

The late Wm. Larison, A. M., a Master in Chancery in Chicago, was a grandson of James. He was graduated at Oberlin College, Ohio, in 1847, and died in 1872.

J. Jay Larison, of Mecklenberg, Schuyler Co., N. Y., is a grandson of David.

JAMES LARISON, (son of John, of Denmark) b. about 1695, purchased 242 acres of land at Hopewell, Mercer Co., N. J., in 1740. He died there in 1792, aged 97 years. He had nine children, only three of whom left male descendants. These were, 1. ANDREW, 2. Roger, 3. David.

ANDREW LARISON, b. 1738, d. in 1800, and is buried in the Old Episcopal Churchyard, at Ringoes, N. J. His sons were, 1. GEORGE, 2. JAMES, 3. Andrew, 4. Benjamin.

1. GEORGE, married Catharine Lambert, dau. of Ex.-Gov. Lambert of N. J., and had LAVINA, who married SAMUEL CARHART.

2. Roger Larison, lived in Bethlehem Township, Hunterdon Co., N. J., and had James, Theodore and John. The Rev. John Larison, of Ridgbury, Bradford Co., Pa., is a son of Theodore.

3. David had two sons, Amos, and Johnathan, whose descendants reside near Cincinnati.

2. JAMES LARISON, (son of ANDREW) b. Nov. 3, 1765, m. Kesiah Holcombe, (dau. of Jacob Holcombe). James d. July 25, 1848. Kesiah d. Oct. 23, 1854. They lived near Evertstown, Hunterdon Co., N. J., and had Lavina, b. July 25, 1788, who m. Samuel Britton. Rachel, b. Aug. 15, 1791, m. John Van Syckel. KESIAH, b. July 8, 1811, m. Sept. 25, 1829, JOHN CARHART.

4. Benjamin Larison, (son of ANDREW), b. Jan. 5, 1806, resides near Stockton, N. J. He has four sons.

1. George Larison, M. D. of Lambertsville, N. J. 2. Cornelius W. Larison, Prof. of Natural Science, in the University of Lewisburg, Pa. 3. Rev. Andrew B. Larison, Pastor of the Baptist Church at Ringoes, N. J., and Principal of the Seminary at that place. 4. John D. Larison, an extensive farmer at Stockton, N. J.—Collated from History of Denmark, and Family Records.

NOTE XLV.

To the patient labors of ELWOOD CARHART, many of the New Jersey branches owe the fact that their names appear in this record. But for him and his cousins, CHARLES and AMORY SIBLEY, the Carhart record would not have been published in its present comprehensive form; and many facts and traditions would probably have become confused or obliterated in the lapse of time, and the descendants have lost the knowledge of their origin.—M. E. C. D.
